

Guru Granth Sahib

Guru Granth Sahib is the sacred text read by Sikhs.

Channani is the canopy above the platform which holds the Guru Granth Sahib. Manji Sahib are the cushions on which the Guru Granth Sahib is placed.

Chauri

Chauri is a horse hair brush or fan, waved over the Guru Granth Sahib.

Rumala

Rumala is an embroidered, silk cloth that covers the Guru Granth Sahib.

The Five Ks

The Five Ks are Kara, Kirpan, Kanga, Kesh and Kachera.
Kara, Kirpan and Kanga are a steel wrist band, sword and comb.

Kachera or shorts.

twinkl.scot

Kesh is the Sikh practice of not cutting hair. A Turban is worn by Sikh men over their hair.

Mala

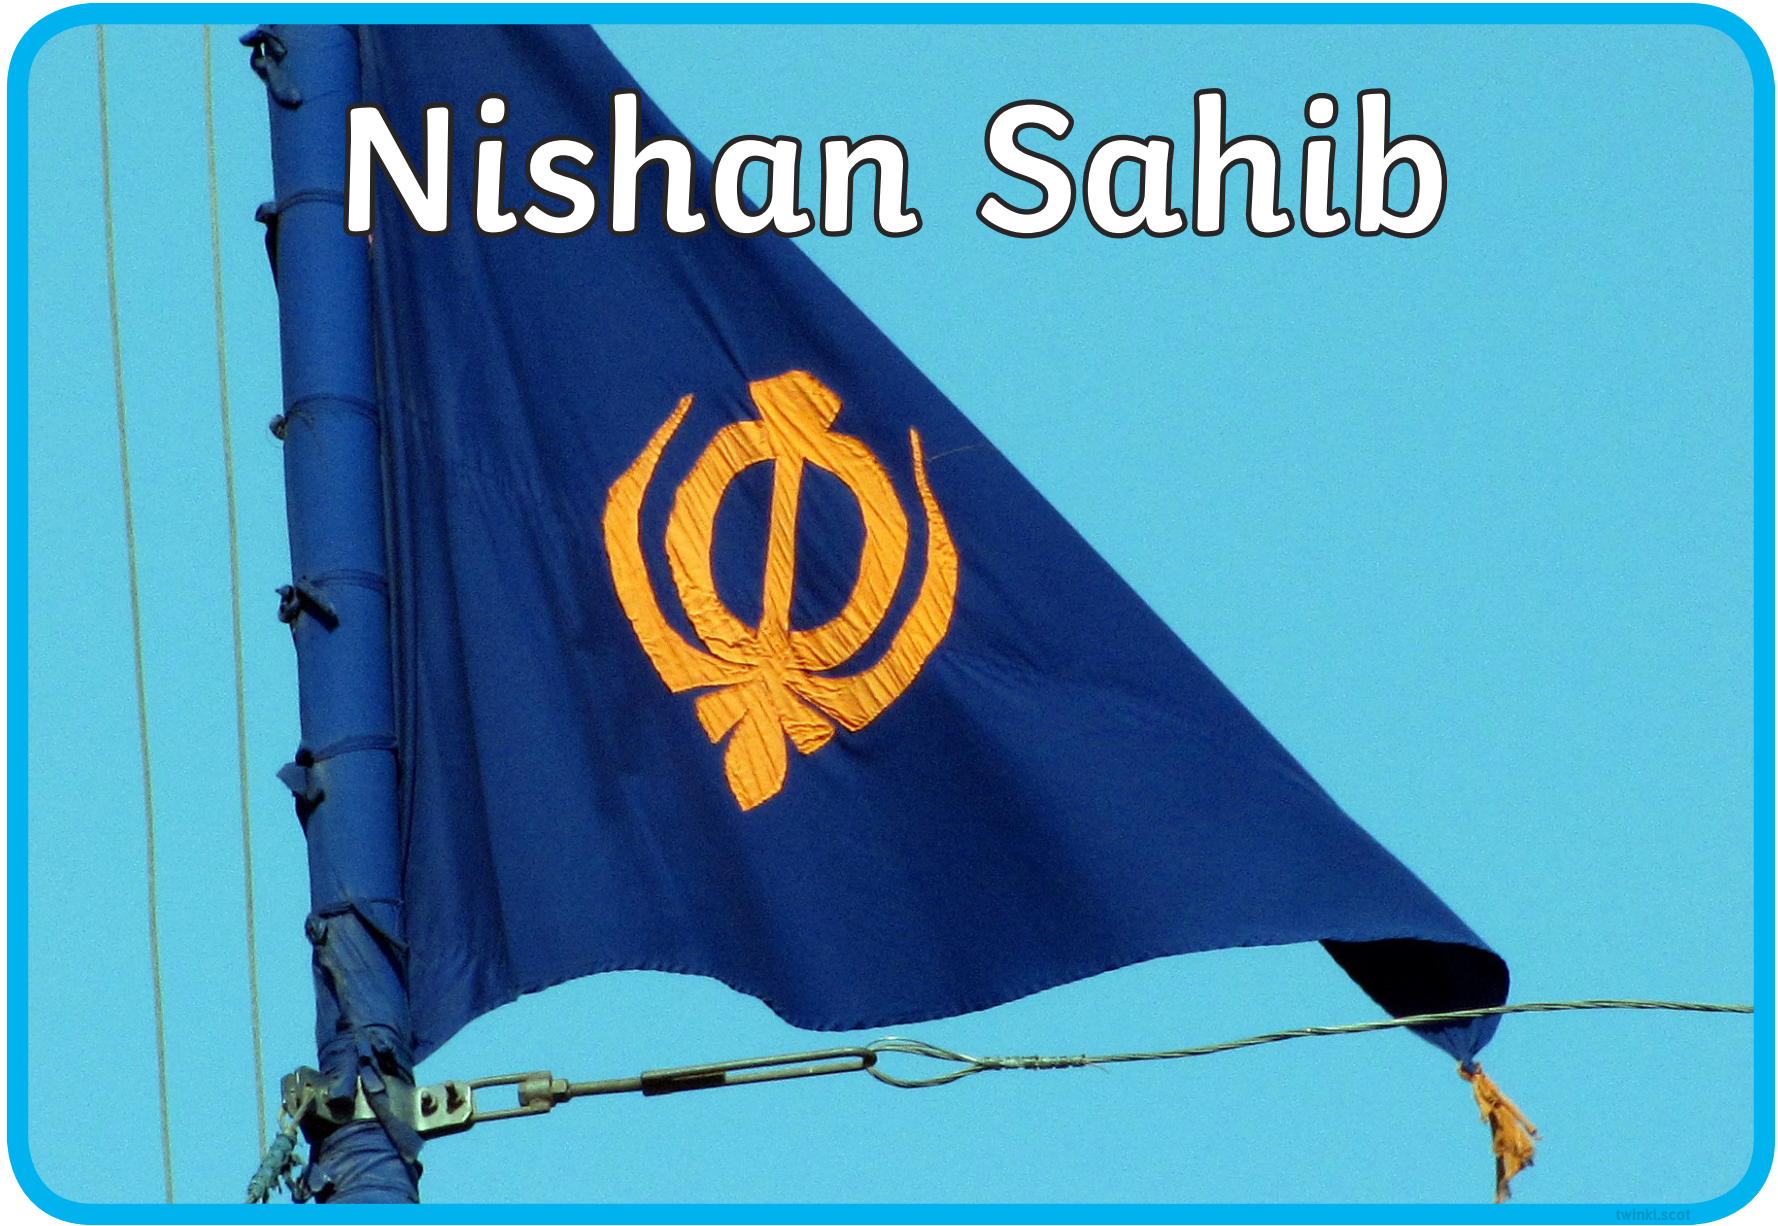

Sikh prayer beads or mala, used in meditation.

Sikh Gurdwara

This Sikh Gurdwara is known as the Golden Temple of Amritsar.

Nishan Sahib

It shows a Khanda - a double-edged sword and the symbol of God's power; a Chakra - a circle which symbolises God's infinity; and 2 Kirpans - swords to symbolise power to defend truth.