Weekly Newsletter

Friday 7th February 2025

Hello Everyone,

I hope you are well!

From what I have heard on the grapevine, the new format for the Newsletter has gone down well, with a couple of parents saying they might actually read it now!

Next week sees Year 6 head off to Condover and for the first time ever, I will be staying at school and letting the much younger members of staff head off with the children. I know they will all have a great time!

A little note to remind parents to keep an eye out for an email inviting you to book 'Parent's Evening' appointments on either the 5th or 6th March.

We break up for half term next Friday, normal end of school day, 3:15pm.

Funny of the Week

Came from one of our pupils this week, who came to find me in the staffroom. The pupil said, "There is a funny smell in here, it must be your cheesy feet Mr Davies!" I really didn't know what to say!!

Subject of the Week

This week I have been astounded by some of the Writing that children have brought to my office. They have all been working so hard and you can really see the improvements. Well done, Kids! Great job, keep it up!

Reminders

Friday 14th February - Non Uniform day in school. All donations greatly appreciated for new playground equipment.

Comic Con Tickets on Sale - Cash only £4.50 per child. Please come and get your tickets from the school office.

Attendance

There was a bit of a drop off with attendance last week, with only 4 classes managing to get over 95%. Well done to Miss Couchman's class who topped the charts with 98%. So I think a little treat for your class Miss, before they head off for a wonderful week at Condoover!

Thank you parents for all your support in trying to raise attendance across the school! Much appreciated.

News from a PHASE

Year 5 and 6 have had an action-packed week! Last week, Year 5 took part in an exciting Kabbadi workshop, learning the rules of the fast-paced sport ahead of their upcoming trip to the Kabbadi World Cup in Wolverhampton. Meanwhile, Year 6 have been busy preparing for their much-anticipated residential trip to Condoover, where they will take part in adventurous outdoor activities and team challenges.
